Compliance with the WEEE European directive: An essential requirement for the electronic and electrical industry

The activity will be held in French.

If you export electrical or electronic equipment to the European market, do you know that your product must be marked with this symbol or must appear in the product's documentation?

Would you like more information on how to comply with the European Waste Electrical and Electronic Equipment (WEEE) directive? This directive stipulates that all member states must organize the collection of waste electrical and electronic equipment. In addition, they must ensure that these waste products are recovered and recycled and that any leftover waste is disposed of without polluting the environment.

This business breakfast meeting is an ideal opportunity for you to learn more on the subject and speak with Mr. Jean Thibodeau, a regulation and standards specialist with the Centre de recherche industrielle du Québec (CRIQ).
